High Point, NC --- Land is being cleared for the new High Point headquarters for Pharmagraphics, a pharmaceutical and health care packaging printer.

The new headquarters will be at 1072 Boulder Road, at the edge of Piedmont Centre. Pharmagraphics is expected to move into the new building by February, the company announced Thursday. Ground has been broken on the 63,000-square-foot building.

"The new facility will provide the additional square footage to enable us to expand our production capacity in the Triad as well as permit us to put our corporate offices and local manufacturing facility under one roof," said Carl Treleaven, the company's chief executive officer and chairman.

The master building permit filed with the city of High Point lists the cost of the building at $7.2 million.

Pharmagraphics is an international printing and packaging company that specializes in pressure-sensitive roll labels, package outserts and inserts and folding cartons for the pharmaceutical, health care, information technology and consumer goods industries.

Loren Hill, president of the High Point Economic Development Corp. (HPEDC), said the HPEDC had been working with Pharmagraphics for some time and that it should send a message to pharmaceutical and biotech companies that High Point is a desirable location.

High Point, NC -- Pharmagraphics, an international printing and packaging company, is moving its offices from Greensboro to High Point so it can consolidate two operations into one building.

High Point officials announced the relocation in a private meeting Wednesday of the High Point Economic Development Corp. board of directors.

"Our board was very pleased to hear of the investment," said Loren Hill, the HPEDC president. "We're always pleased to have the headquarters of a company with international outlets in our city."

Pharmagraphics was founded in Chicago in 1924. In the early 1970s, the company decided to focus its printing on health care and pharmaceuticals.

The company has two other U.S. plants, in Gastonia, NC, and Connecticut. It also has plants in Puerto Rico, Poland, Mexico and Canada. Pharmagraphics employs about 175 people in the Triad and about 600 worldwide.
